GL Homes CFO Named Board Chair of Habitat for Humanity of Broward

They're at a Habitat for Humanity Women Build – laughing, working, and building an actual home together. That's the point.

As GL Homes' CFO steps into her new role as Board Chair of Habitat for Humanity of Broward, she's spreading a simple message to South Florida's business community: think beyond the ballroom chicken dinner. Build something instead.

A Better Use of Your Philanthropy Budget

A Habitat Broward corporate Team Build costs about the same as a gala table. But instead of your team sitting through a three-hour dinner, they spend a day outside doing something real – building a home for a local family in need.

No construction experience? No problem. Habitat Broward supplies everything: tools, materials, and training. You just show up and get to work. Builds are available Tuesdays, Thursdays, and Saturdays. Your donation is tax-deductible.

What do you get in return? A team that actually bonded. Shared stories. Real memories. And the satisfaction of pointing to a finished project and saying, "We built that."

Choose Your Build

Habitat Broward hosts three community builds open to businesses and individuals:

- Women Build – A celebration of women in the community, coming together to build homes and lift each other up.
- Habitat Hammers – Built for South Florida's construction industry. Contractors, developers, and architects doing what they do best – for a family who needs it.
- Marine Industries Build – For South Florida's boating and marine community, giving back to the region that supports them.

C-Suite? There's a Build for You Too.

The CEO Build brings together top executives for a hands-on build day with peers from across South Florida. It's a powerful way to connect with other leaders, experience the mission up close, and show your team what real leadership looks like.

Why It Matters

South Florida's housing costs have skyrocketed. Teachers, nurses, and first responders can't afford to live in the communities they serve. Habitat for Humanity of Broward helps bridge that gap – one home at a time, partnering with families who help build their own homes.

When your company builds with Habitat Broward, you're not just writing a check. You're making a real difference in a real neighborhood.
